

Michael Mollel was born in 1990 in the Longido District of Tanzania. He attended the local public schools of Illboru Primary and Illboru Secondary, located in his hometown region for his primary and secondary schooling. After completing his studies, Michael began a career as a data scientist in 2014 at the Nelson Mandela African Institution of Science and Technology, where he currently works to better society in his country.

Throughout his upbringing and education in rural villages near Mount Kilimanjaro, Michael gained firsthand experience connecting with local community members from all walks of life. Though now a long way from his humble beginnings in the Arusha Region, Michael remains committed to public service for both urban and rural populations across Tanzania.
